

It is time to fill the GAP in TAP

It's unfair that CUNY and SUNY must fund the tuition shortfall for all students receiving TAP grants.

Increasing the Maximum TAP Award WILL NOT FIX this GAP

2018-2019 Tuition:

CUNY
Tuition:.....	$6,730
TAP:.....	$5,165
TAP GAP:.....	$1,730
Cost to Student:.....	$0
CUNY Receives:.....	$5,000
Only 74% of total tuition

Per state law, CUNY and SUNY four-year campuses must fund the difference between TAP awards ($5,000) and the full tuition rates of $6,730 (CUNY) and $6,870 (SUNY) out of their own operating revenue. The cost for 2018-19 is

$139 million
and will be more in 2019-20.

2018-2019 Tuition:

SUNY
Tuition:.....	$6,870
TAP:.....	$5,165
TAP GAP:.....	$1,870
Cost to Student:.....	$0
SUNY Receives:.....	$5,000
Only 73% of total tuition

New York has invested heavily in making college affordable to students. The Tuition Assistance Program spends $900 million a year to support more than 300,000 students. However, SUNY and CUNY must fund, or “eat”, the difference as the “gap” between TAP awards and actual tuition costs grows with every annual tuition increase. It is unfair that campuses must cover it with their own operating revenue. The TAP GAP has cost public colleges $700 million since 2012.

New York's Public Colleges and Universities deserve a better plan for college accessibility.
