PSC-CCNY Environmental Justice Working Group Event

Friday, November 4, 2022 @ 12:30 PM

How can City College be part of the climate justice movement?

- Promoting resilience, including infrastructure, renewable energy, clean water, waste management, healthy food production & service, heating & cooling
- Working collaboratively with neighbors in our broader communities
- Creating a “green school” and modeling environmental and social transformation
- Develop educational and training programs to spread information about the climate crisis, and climate justice, and to prepare us for climate jobs and a future of climate change

Join us for a panel discussion and breakout sessions with
Mark Levine, Manhattan Borough President
Alex Klein, Zero Waste NYC (Grow NYC)
Lea Thali, NYC Parks Department

Students, Faculty, and Staff are all invited to this virtual event to advance a climate justice agenda at City College.

We are in the middle of a climate crisis that must be addressed on every level--global, federal, state, city, and at our university.

We must VOTE now to do everything we can to minimize climate catastrophes, promote sustainability and protect our people. This year's wildfires, hurricanes, floods, record-high temperatures, droughts, and climate migrations provide a clarion call for all of us to VOTE NOW.
