Community Norms And Practices

Respect for every person’s worth is fundamental - to a university, and particularly to CUNY, which was founded on principles of inclusion. We commit ourselves to nurture a work environment that honors the dignity of all, is respectful and free from discrimination, harassment or bullying; and we therefore, agree to respect each other’s differences, and to create a healthy, safe and rewarding environment that nurtures, challenges and supports the community.

In order for our community to function in this way, it is useful for its individual members to make the following commitments:

1. I commit to conduct that is mutually respectful and not discriminatory, harassing, bullying or threatening.
2. I take responsibility for my actions and my personal perspectives, recognizing that there may be disagreements with another’s.
3. I will respect everyone’s contributions and honor the roles and responsibilities of all members through my words and actions.
4. I will be mindful and reflect on how I might be using or misusing my power and privilege in my interactions.
5. I will intend to be inclusive and support others with the same respect and compassion that I want for myself.
6. I am willing to be an active ally (upstander) by speaking, intervening, or acting on behalf of a person being attacked or bullied.
7. I will seek to understand others and assume best intentions in all interaction.
8. I will seek to understand other perspectives and avoid making assumption.
9. I commit to listen actively and with compassion at the workplace and in all union meetings.

SPEAKER BIO. Clara Wajngurt is a professor of mathematics at Queensborough Community College who has written extensively on workplace bullying. She has lectured on this issue, appeared in anti-bullying panel discussions, presented on radio programs, and has an internet TV program on End Bullying Now on the Bold, Brave TV network. Her goal is to work on eradicating workplace bullying once and for all.
Outline and Presentation Goals

• What is workplace bullying, how to recognize it, why does it occur, and its effects.

• Understanding the bullying cycle.

• What do you do when workplace bullying occurs?

• What is the PSC doing about workplace bullying and how to get involved?
What is workplace bullying?

Workplace bullying is repeated, unreasonable actions aimed at intimidating, humiliating, degrading or undermining an employee or group of employees. Bullying may create a risk to employee health and safety.

What does workplace bullying involve?

Workplace bullying often involves abuse or misuse of power. Bullying behavior creates feelings of defenselessness and injustice in the target and undermines an individual’s right to dignity at work.

What Does Bullying Look Like?

- Quiet
  - Spread misinformation
  - Share information inappropriately
  - Use nonverbal intimidation
  - Make veiled threats
  - Lies about past statements or move the goal line
  - Provide too much or not enough work
  - Withhold resources
  - Faint Praise

- Loud
  - Yell
  - Publicly criticize
  - Find fault constantly
  - Publicly humiliate
  - Physically threaten or intimidate
  - Over supervise
  - Mock and demean
  - Constant attention to shortcomings

Examples of bullying at CUNY

- Supervisor gives the CLT inordinate amounts of work to do with deadlines that are impossible to follow.
- HEO Director shouts orders to the office personnel.
- Chairperson ignores adjunct faculty member consistently at meetings and refuses to acknowledge suggestions from adjunct.
- HEOs gossip about one particular HEO who is shy and withdrawn.
- HEO supervisor assigns tasks that are beyond person’s skill level without prior training.
- Department Chair excessively monitors the work of the CLT.
- Chairperson expects faculty member to apply for promotion but does not provide access to information, consultation nor resources on how to apply and perfect one’s application.
- A senior faculty member constantly reminds junior faculty of past errors.
- CLT is ignored and constantly isolated from other members in department.
Cyberbullying

The New York Attorney General defines cyberbullying as the use of email, websites, instant messaging, chat rooms, text messaging and digital cameras to antagonize and intimidate others.

Remote Work and Cyberbullying – How to Recognize It

- Intentionally putting someone on the spot in a Zoom meeting to embarrass them.
- Supervisor changes the passwords of the department accounts so certain people in the department cannot access the account.
- Intimidating one’s colleagues after work hours by phone or email – after hour text messages and phone calls from your supervisor.
- Sending offensive messages, insults, personal threats, intimidation between colleagues on the phone, video or through email.
- Withholding work-related information
- Spreading online rumors through social media
Poll #1

Have you ever witnessed bullying at CUNY?

• Yes
• No
• Not sure

Poll #2

Have you ever been bullied or a target of a bully while at CUNY?

• Yes
• No
• Not sure
Poll #3

Did you report it?

- Yes
- No
- Not sure

We all have a role to play – how witnesses respond?
Why do many targets remain silent?

- Taboos
  - "You just don't complain about things like that."

- Secrecy
  - "Who would believe me anyway?"

- Fear of Retaliation
  - "What if they try to get back at me for "tattling"?"

- Misattribution
  - "It must be me, I'm just not cut out for this."

- Ignorance
  - "Who would even talk to about this?"

- Acculturation
  - "This is just how it is; this is normal."

- Fear of being seen as too sensitive
  - "They'll just think I'm whiny or making a mountain out of a molehill."

Could You Be A Workplace Bully?

Who are the different types of bullies?
The Stress Bully

- Loses composure during stress
- Can be verbally abusive
- Believes it is immediately erased by normative behavior
- Will deny being a bully but claims target (he, she, they) is very emotional
- Seen as a driver who gets results
- May be more stressful for some than others

The Political Bully

- Uses emotional manipulation and power to compete or to label others
- Socially adept and dishonest
- Extremely likely to take credit for work of others
- Manages up, abuses down
- Team feels a need to be with him/her or against her
- “Crazy making” to target
The “Old School” Bully

• Bullying is part of the culture
• Does not have a wide variety of tools available
• Lacks empathy – believes adversity makes people strong
• Focuses exclusively on measurable results
• “They should be happy they have a job.”

The Organizational Bully

• Prevails in politics, unionized workplaces, sports organizations.
• Wields substantial clout and influence
• Can threaten and mobilize group condemnation or ostracism
• Often makes use of email lists to publicly criticize
• Speaks for the “good of the group,” but allows no dissent
• Will openly call people out on disloyalty
The Privileged Bully

- Earned or unearned privilege
- Indispensable to the organization
- Has unilateral control over the success or failure of others.
- Generally unapproachable by leaders at any level.
- Operates with mindset of “high standards.”

The Peer Bully

- Bigotry not based on protected class
- Alpha characteristics or status / power / authority difference
- With them or against them
- May create alliance against leaders
- Create “turkeys.”
Mobbing, or Group Bullying

- We are attracted to being a member of an in group
- Affiliation with others is powerful
- Cognitive Dissonance allows justification
- Feelings of power are pleasing when they promote affiliation.

“Death By Documentation”

- Use personnel practices as a tool to intimidate, harass, harangue, shame and motivate employees to quit
- Differs from legitimate documentation in that it is not preceded by attempts to provide tangible targets for performance improvement and assistance in meeting those targets
If You Recognize Yourself in the Bullying Types

- You can change
- You can acknowledge and own it
- You can apologize
- You can ask for help
- You can ask for feedback
- You can be a more productive and admired member of the organization
- Or you can deal with the inevitable consequences

Why Bullying Occurs?
Why does workplace bullying occur?

- increasing workload/insufficient staffing
- working in isolation
- unclear or shifting job responsibilities
- changing face of the workforce and leaders do not respond effectively
- governance structure, academic freedom and tenure issues create unresolved decisions
- conflicts in perspective

Other challenges that cause workplace bullying to occur and make prevention and intervention less likely

- increased bureaucracy
- pressure to adopt a more corporate model of operation
- increased administrative burden, unclear or shifting job responsibilities
- lack of adequate job training
- lack of meaningful performance review/accountability
- lack of protections in policies or contract
The focus of academic culture is on the individual rather than the organization

- Emphasis on individual achievements
- Competition and hyper-specialization
- Academic informality (blurred line between the personal and the professional)
- Belief that conflict is abnormal (and about the individual, not the issue)
- Lack of commitment to honest and thorough assessment

Academic structure makes it difficult to know what is happening and what to do about it

- Decentralized structure (i.e. faculty governance, separate administrative branches for academics and campus management…)
- Lack of protections in policies or contract
- Ambiguous and changing expectations
- Lack of clear feedback on performance
- Confidential (secretive) peer-review
How do bullies choose their targets?

1. You are effective and capable in your job => bully is jealous of target.
2. You are well-liked and accepted by others => trusting, approachable, tolerant => easy prey for confrontation and manipulation.
3. You have integrity and high moral standards => people who threaten the bully’s territory.
4. You are kind and capable of showing empathy to others => vulnerable to bully especially if lacking in self-esteem/assertiveness.
5. You have a high tolerance level for difficult people => bullies look for people who put up no resistance to attacks.

Why do we tolerate workplace bullying?

1. It’s socially unacceptable to push back.
2. If we push back – will we really win or will we make matters worse?
3. If we react to the bully’s demands, we lose vision of what we want and need - leaving us fearful and afraid as opposed to being secure and empowered.
Workplace bullies often operate within the established rules and policies of their organization often using official communication chains to bully.

Unethical communication leads to escalation of conflict

- conflict
- taking sides
- unethical communication

- shutting target out of workplace information loops
- providing false information to or about target
- isolating and/or ignoring of target
- failing to stop unethical communication
- painting the target as a “bully”
- ridiculing, belittling, or humiliating the target
- leaking personal confidential information
- gossipping and spreading rumors
Ally Continuum for Targets & Bullies

APATHETIC
No understanding of the issues.

AWARE
Knows basic concepts, not active on behalf of self or others.

ACTIVE
Well-informed, sharing and seeking diversity when asked / prompted.

ADVOCATE
Committed, routinely and proactively championing inclusion.

The Bullying Cycle

- As long as the target denies or minimizes the bullying behavior, the target is encouraging it to continue.
- Breaking the cycle will happen only when the target realizes that this is about the bully, not the target.
- The target will begin to stand up for himself/herself and learns skills of assertiveness, the target will no longer be bullied.

The Bullying Cycle will happen only when the target realizes that this is about the bully, not the target.

1. The bully feels weak and inadequate so prefers to prey on the weak and defenseless.
What Can We Do to Stop Workplace Bullying?

• Workplace bullying prevention starts with you.
• Model and support ethical, respectful behavior in your everyday interactions by treating people with dignity and respect.
• Communicate assertively.
• Examine the situation, evaluate options and make appropriate decisions.
• Actively participate in trainings that involve self-empowerment and self-resilience.
• Develop a universal policy and culture change to treat all with dignity and respect.

Consider a Framework Characterized by a Four Pronged Approach to Stop Workplace Bullying

1. State the Problem
2. Protect Yourself
3. Empower Yourself
4. Take Action
1. State the Problem

- Acknowledge the bullying.
- Realize that the bullying is about the bully, not you.
- Understand how bullying affects you.

2. Protect Yourself

- Document the bullying (personal journal or log).
  ➢ For each incident, date, time, location, witnesses present, what happened, how it made you feel, identify the disrespectful behavior.
- Protect your health.
- Know that you will get through this.
3. Empower Yourself

• Increase your level of wellness.
• Take care of your physical health.
• Manage your stress levels.
• Build your self-esteem.
• Increase options.
• Learn to assert yourself.
• Develop your strengths.

4. Take Action

• Assemble your support team
  Your support team consists of everyone whose help you want and who is willing to give it.
  ➢ Choose a friend or co-worker who is kind and caring; an empathetic listener. (empathy)
  ➢ Let your friend or co-worker know you want their caring and concern. (sympathy).
  ➢ If you seek professional advice, choose a therapist who specializes in conflict resolution and workplace bullying. Make sure you feel comfortable with them. (advice)

• Examine options
• Make effective decisions

How do you confront the bully?

- Honest. Always be honest. Candid. Just be yourself.
- Agreeable. Agree where you can to demonstrate that you want to cooperatively resolve the problem. Never defend yourself. Don’t argue.
- Respectful. Always treat yourself and the other person with respect.
- Direct. Be direct. Speak simply. Clearly state what you want. Instead of saying what the bully should do, say what you want.
How to Approach the Bully

1. Set a boundary to let bully know their tactics are not appropriate and won’t tolerate them => feel empowered and more confident because you have set the boundary.

2. You can say this in two ways in person (write it out first, then say it) or in writing only.

3. Asserting Yourself with Bully

Bully cannot be “reasoned” with
Bully will respond with the following tactics:

- Denial – “You’re making a mountain out of a molehill”
- Counter-attack – Lying, deception, hypocrisy, blame – avoids responsibility
- Victimhood – Bully plays victim – bully is deeply offended
4. Make a daily practice to review in your mind the encounters you have every day (daily briefing).

What did the other person do or say?
How did you respond?
How might you have responded in a more assertive way?

5. Basic principle of assertiveness – respect yourself and others.

What are the steps to effective decision making?

- Identify your options
- Evaluate the options
- Choose an option
  (you have already stated the problem and have identified possible solutions)
- Communicate – Continue to work on assertiveness skills
- Continue to build your self-esteem
- Empower yourself – increase your level of wellness
Step 1: Identify Your Options

1. Ignore
2. Avoid
3. Try harder to get along
4. Talk to person – what is the problem?
5. Talk to person – ask them to lay off.
6. Threaten to report them
7. Talk to supervisor

Step #2: Evaluate Your Options

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Option</th>
<th>Pros:</th>
<th>Cons:</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Ignore</td>
<td>None; things will just get worse.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Avoid</td>
<td>Don't have to deal with it – we work to closely.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Get along</td>
<td>None; he gets worse when I try.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Talk about problem?</td>
<td>Might work it out. Or he might get worse. He might reject me.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lay off</td>
<td>He might cooperate. Or he might get worse</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Threaten</td>
<td>He might stop, might call my bluff or force me to follow through with it. Do I want to?</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Talk to supervisor</td>
<td>Might be able to help. He already sees the bullying. I may be seen as a complainer.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Step 3: Choose an option

Examples of boundary-setting sentences

- I can't do that, but I can help you find someone who can.
- I appreciate the gesture, but in the future, I'd prefer to...
- I can't take on additional responsibilities right now.
- I'm not comfortable discussing this topic with you.
- I'm uncomfortable with what you just said / did.
- Thanks for your concern, but I can handle this.
- I can't attend, but I appreciate the invitation.
- I don't give you permission to do [x] to me.
- I can't do [x], but I'm open to trying [y].
- I don't feel safe so I'm going to leave.
- I won't be spoken to in that manner.
- I'm allowed to change my mind.
- Thanks, but I'm not interested.
- I wish I could, but I can't.
- No, thank you.
- No.
Bullying is Abuse

- Its consequences are as grave as those of domestic abuse or assault
- If we would not stand and watch these things, we owe it to ourselves to find a way to help or support those experiencing it
- By doing so, we are whistleblowers, protected from reprisal by University policy and State Law.
If you Feel Bullied

• Object early; the effectiveness of objecting diminishes over time
• Seek support and assistance
• Get feedback and advice
• Seek supervisory assistance; climb the organizational ladder
• Frame your concerns by identifying specific behaviors, language or action AND the effects

Bystanders and Allies

• Name or acknowledge unfair or unkind treatment
• Interrupt bullying behavior
• Publicly support those affected
• Privately support those affected
• Privately confront those involved
• Use body language to provide feedback in the moment
• Report to someone who can do something about it.
Key Aspects of Dealing with a Complaint

- Listen more than talk: hear the story
- Do not debate, express doubt or lay blame
- Affirm feelings
- THEN get salient facts, witness and evidence
- Stay neutral, and if you can’t, get help
- Use a “reasonable person” standard
- Acknowledge you may have “missed” something in the course of supervision

PSC Anti-Bullying Committee Members

What Is The PSC Doing About Workplace Bully?
Bullying & Our Union

The power of our union is built upon the solidarity of our members. Member-to-member bullying breaks down the solidarity amongst our members and reduces the power of our union. Every member of our union has the duty to refrain from bullying or harassing any other member of our union. Ideally, each member of our union shall further take steps to prevent, detect, and eliminate workplace bullying in our workplace, including reporting such bullying and harassment and engaging as an upstander to intervene and end such bullying and harassment they are aware of.

About the PSC Anti-Bullying Committee (ABC)

Adopted on December 10, 2020 by the PSC Delegate Assembly and reauthorized through December 15, 2023.

Resolved, that the PSC Delegate Assembly form an ad hoc Anti-Bullying Committee for a period not to exceed one year. The committee will advise and participate in the anti-bullying campaign and...
PSC ABC Initiatives

1. The PSC Anti-Bullying Committee (ABC) was formed on December 10, 2019 and renewed annually
2. Developed and lead the PSC Anti-Bullying Campaign (#BullyFreeCUNY #KnowYourIMPACT)
4. Developed Graciano Matos Resolution (DA approved September 2021)
   - Annual celebration of Freedom from Workplace Bullies Week
5. Raise Awareness & Membership Education of Workplace Bullying Prevention
   - Membership engagements via monthly events (e.g., workshop, trainings, guest speakers)
   - Conduct local anti-bullying presentations as requested
   - Training for Grievance Counselors, advisors and campus support teams
6. ABC Advocacy Proposal on workplace bullying prevention passed in March 2022
   - Formation of PSC local campus support teams or Anti-Bullying Committees on workplace bullying prevention
7. Conduct surveys and field research and publish reports and findings
8. Develop literature and social media and website content to amplify the issues
9. Labor-management meetings to discuss issues related to workplace bullying
10. Fight for contractual and legal protections promoting safe workplaces and prohibiting workplace abuses
